WAR SAVINGS WEEK.

The National War Savings Committee, which is carrying on, through its state and local committees, a Nation-wide campaign to get all the people on or before June 28 to pledge themselves to save, to the utmost of their ability and to buy War Savings stamps desires every citizen to join in the campaign.

Those of us who remain at home while others do the fighting have an ever-increasing number of opportunities to do definite and important work for our country. We wish to do this work as an expression of the gratitude we feel in being privileged to continue at our usual tasks, to enjoy the loving companionship of our families, to meet freely with our friends and neighbors, to enjoy all the security of life and most of the pleasures and the economic privileges of peace times while other men, who have had to put aside all these things, are fighting our battles for us on the sacred soil of France and on the high seas.

Our new opportunities to serve comes as a result of designating June 28 as National War Savings Day, a day on which all men and women and all children of sufficient years to appreciate the day's significance are called upon to pledge themselves to save the utmost of their ability and to conserve all possible labor and materials for the government, and to buy War Savings Stamps with their savings. Our part is to do everything possible to make this day stand out among the great days of this period of the war.

Could any one of us be asked to do less than this? Could any one of us refuse to do so little a thing to win the war for the world's freedom? Could any of us put aside this plea for saving while all Europe is crying out in its agony to be released from the clutches of the monster that is defeating all it touches? Could we refuse so simple a thing and at the same time ask other men to give their lives that our own precious lives be spared and our fireside be kept safe from the terrors of the Hun?

Our duty is clear, our privilege is great, our sacrifice is little, our work is important.

National War Savings Day is to be the great rallying day on which everyone in our country is expected to pledge himself or herself to save and economize. This saving and economizing will first of all leave in the markets a greater supply of labor and materials for the use of the government with which to fight the war. And then the money savings of the industrials are to be invested in War Savings Stamps.

What the government asks us to do is to pledge ourselves to buy at definite periods with our savings a specific amount of War Savings Stamps. The thing to be accomplished is to get subscriptions which will take care during the balance of the present year of the unsold portion of the $2,000,000,000 of War Savings Stamps authorized by the Congress to be sold during 1918.

When one stops to think of the matter, it is really a small thing to raise $2,000,000,000 in a country of more than 100,000,000 people. If everyone would do their share, it would be necessary for each person to subscribe to only $20 worth of stamps.

The duty of us at home is to see to it that the entire amount is subscribed. We must work to that end. We must aid to our already great army of war savers. We must make more sacrifices ourselves and urge sacrifices upon others. National War Savings Day must be made the great success of all of us hope for.

Lacking county's share is $1-236-180 or $4,000 worth every day in 1918. The total sale in this county so far is $509,916.

AIRCRAFT PRODUCTION.

The bitterest criticism the Washington administration has had to meet so far has related to the production of aircraft. Of course everyone has been disappointed in the production. It has come very much short of what we all hoped. But also everyone underestimates the difficulties in the way of creating a vast new industry.

Recent reports have had it that the factories are now turning out 100 Liberty motors a week. That is a very considerable production, and is not so bad considering that it is still less than a year since we decided to put a considerable force on the French front.

What is still more encouraging is that the French and English experts have warmly approved the Liberty motor. They have indicated that approval in the most practical and tangible way, by ordering a large quantity of them, which they want at the earliest possible moment. They would not have done that unless they believed that our aircraft forces has produced a model superior to anything yet developed, and likely to be of new help in beating the Huns.

Further is it promised that the time when the airplane factories will attain quantity production on a great scale is really quite near now.

If that proves to be the case, little more will be heard of our aircraft failure by the first of next January. The situation is such that judgment should be suspended, and we should patiently wait for results.

If we had gone on in a more precipitated way, we could it is true have turned out a lot of inferior machines that would be ready now. But our government has worked on the theory of producing a really superior machine, and without much doubt it has got it and will shortly get it in great quantities.

NEXT YEAR'S TAXES.

(Cleveland Plain Dealer.)
For the year beginning July 1, Secretary McAdoo estimates that the government will need $24,000,000,000. One-third of this amount he recommends to be raised by taxation. This means, roughly, a doubling of the revenue produced by the present tax bill.

How will the government raise $8,000,000,000 by taxation? It is the problem now before the ways and means committee of congress, upon which congress is to act before the adjournment of the present session. One certainty is that congress will make a greater effort than heretofore to reach the war profiteer and make him bear a just portion of the burden of war taxation. Upon this point there will be no difference of opinion. There is, probably, much less profiteering than many people suppose but what there is ought certainly to be reached by the new revenue measure.

The present revenue act is, it appears, to be entirely rewritten. It is a hodge-podge, incapable of reasonable interpretation, and should be written off the books and charged to experience. With the whole summer at the disposal of congress it ought to be possible to frame a bill ample in all respects, fair, workable and understandable.

There will be no protest against the proposal to tax luxuries, even though there may be difference as to what constitutes a luxury. Income tax payers must look for increases over what they are called upon to pay next week. There may be some new consumption taxes levied.

Fighting a great war is expensive business and the fact will become more apparent as the tax bill for the next fiscal year is paid, but there will be no complaint if congress performs its task in the spirit commanded by President Wilson and in the fair manner suggested by Secretary McAdoo. The people are ready to do their part, because their heart is in the fight and they realize with increasing vividness the necessity of American arms winning a triumphant peace.

(Boston Transcript)
There is a good deal of money in this country still. If anyone doubts it he is urged to contemplate the fact that the American Red Cross asked for $100,000,000 to be subscribed in seven days, and that the latest returns show that $170,000,000 was actually contributed. That extra $70,000,000 is the proof. It is something which the people of the United States had that was extra—that was "on the outside" of what they were expected to give.

The latest estimate of the number of individual contributions to the great fund is 47,000,000. This is a mighty army of war helpers, of which our enemies may well take account. Under the circumstances, and considering that all these 47,000,000 Americans could give again what they gave in the recent Red Cross drive, it would be really to be of little use to the Germans to destroy our Red Cross hospitals. We can build them faster than German barbarism and malignity can destroy them.

If the G. O. P. fails to tender a vote of thanks to the North Carolina congressional district that elected Representative Kitchin, it will be a flagrant case of ingratitude.—Macon Telegraph.

His Ambition
Aunt Caline says:—They was a offie intrustin' speakin' up at the schoolhouse last nite which it was give by a man home from the war, him bean wounded.

After it was over Maggie Zeen she had him come down to her house where she fed him up on donuts an' coffee. Little Ben, which is Maggie's little boy, he was jest fair crazy about this man an' set their a'lookin' at him jest entranced like a little statue a-drinkin' in all he said.

An' I must say it were intrustin' all about trenches an' flyin' ships an' so on. Pretty soon he turns to Ben an' says he, a-pattin' him on the head, "Well, my little man, what air you a-goin' to do with yourself when you have growed up?" he says. "Be a doctor?" he says. "No, siree," says Ben. "me, I'm a-goin' to have a airship an' I betcha," he says. "I'll lern to run her better'n ennybuddy," he says. "Good!" says the man. "An' then you will go over to the war an' help them fight, won't you?" he says. "War nothin'," says Ben offie scornful. "All I want is to fly over Bill Slapper's back yard an' drop a few brick down onto him," he says.

Did You Know
That there is a society organized for the purpose of promoting good fellowship between Britons and Americans as individuals. It is known as the Pilgrims and was organized in London in 1902. It has a membership of 400. The American Pilgrims was organized in 1903 and has a membership of 650, which is the limit specified in the rules. There is a long waiting list of applicants. The society takes no part in politics or affairs of state or church, but is occupied solely in the cementing of friendship between citizens of the United States and those of Great Britain. Its one purpose is to foster by social means a friendly understanding between the people of these two countries. The president of the English branch is the Right Honorable

ARCTIC COMFORT.

(Philadelphia Record.)

Any suggestion from a man officially supposed to have discovered the North Pole should have some value to those engaged in the apparently simpler problem of locating an enemy submarine off our own Atlantic coast. So what Rear Admiral Peary has to say about the utility of seaplanes in this emergency should have more than passing consideration. If gum-drops doled out to Esquimaux brought success in the first instance, why may not bomb-drops plentifully supplied to aviators be expected to produce results in this? One obstacle here looms upon the horizon no bigger than a cloud the size of a man's hand. It is the seaplane itself. It is not a numerous bird.

In the same news columns which unfolded Peary's plan to use we read that "scores of scout boats and two hydro-aeroplanes started in pursuit of the raiders." Two? Two are not even "company" in this case, nor would three be a crowd. The hundred would be, and such a crowd might reasonably hope to accomplish something. How many hydro-aeroplanes can we muster now for this service; and if they are at present as scarce as they appear to be how long would it take us to mobilize a sufficient force? The raiding U-boats will be back again, if they have actually left our coast, for the damage they did on this trip was at least sufficiently impressive to make them want to try again.

Admiral Peary calls for "1000 swift, heavily armed seaplanes continually patrolling the water within a radius of 300 miles of Sandy Hook." Then, says he, we will have our five Atlantic seal gateways well guarded, and could feel secure from any further serious damage. But that leaves out of consideration all the vulnerable points between Norfolk and Mexico, and we are justified in putting a particular accent on Mexico. So our little crowd of 300 would be no crowd at all in Peary's plan.

The scheme of our foremost Arctic explorer, therefore, has a passing interest for the disturbed layman, and that's about all its immediate value amounts to. If the Teuton sharks take it into their heads to come back again soon, we can afford to believe that Secretary Daniels and his advisers, in whose confidence Admiral Peary does not appear to be, will have prepared some more practical method to combat them.

When We Arr In Berlin
Among other great ends to be achieved is the civilizing and the Christianizing of the Hun. When we have driven the Kaiser-horde out of France and Belgium and back across the Rhine; when the Star-Spangled Banner floats over Potsdam and the strains of its glorious music fill the streets of Berlin; when the sabre-rattler has hit the dust and the Imperial Schloss has been converted from a royal palace into a school of Reform, the first lesson to be taught in words of one syllable shall be an exposition of the confidence game played upon the Teuton masses by able Viscount Bryce. The office of president of the American branch is at present vacant. Chauncey M. Depew is vice president.

The Scarcity of Black Walnut.

The vast economic waste involved in destroying the forests of a country without adequate measures for their reproduction is graphically illustrated by the present demand for black walnut wood. The immediate demand for war uses is so insistent and the supply so scant that government agents are searching out individual trees of this variety and are asking their owners to dispose of even cherished door yard specimens. There are other varieties of timber which are perhaps not of as much present value as the black walnut, but which are as useful in their way, which will also soon become extinct unless systematic plans for their reproduction are speedily projected.
—Rochester Democrat and Chronicle.

Prussianism

Goethe saw the truth and expressed it when he said: "The Prussian is a brute. To civilize him would make him ferocious." That is a good definition of kultur. The Prussian is a brute. He murders babies, burns the homes of widows and shoots up hospitals. The war question is whether Goethe's saying shall conquer and rule the world. It is a great issue that this is going to settle. It is a race war—the Huns on one side and the Greeks, Romans and Anglo-Saxons on the other. On the Allied side the feeling is that it is a war between barbarism and civilization.

LICKING COUNTY SOLDIERS' LETTERS

The following letter dated May 18 has been received by Venice and Clara Bragg from their brother, M. R. (Dode) Bragg, who is with the American forces in France:
Dear Brothers and Sisters:

I received Clara's welcome letter yesterday, the one she sent to Merritt on April 21st. Pretty good time for having to chase around after me. We surely have been having some hot weather here for the past few days. Maybe you think I don't sweat, haven't any summer underwear, I wish you would tell me the date you received those two cards announcing my safe arrival here or if you only received one was it the Y. M. C. A. card without a stamp. I feel fine and dandy and got weighed last night, still weigh 151 lbs. Got weighed on French scales and had to figure it out when I came back to the barracks. They don't weigh by pounds here. It's grammes and kilograms. I weigh 68 kilos and 400 grammes. Two and two-tenths pounds equal a pound and 500 grammes about 1.1 lbs. I surely enjoyed my trip on the "big pond" but am not allowed to write anything about it. I heard last night that the ship we came over on came in again this week with more Sammies on.

also a good "crap shooter." After pay day I think I will have a paper sent home each week called "Stars and Stripes." I read in last night's Chicago Tribune (printed in Paris) where Riechenbacher is a lieutenant in the aviation section and tackled three German machines, got one and the others beat it. I am going to get my hair clipped and the top shaved as I think it will do my hair good, it is coming out so fast.

Tell Aunt Cal that the soap she gave me is all right and I have started on the second cake. It was in my barracks bag and as they were lost for a couple of weeks I had to buy a cake of Fairy soap. I would like to send some postals but can't on account of every one of them having the name of the town on them. There has been a carnival here ever since I came and you ought to hear the band. The merry-go-round is about 15 to 18 ft. in diameter. They have a game, take rings like they use on knife racks and pitch them at bottles of wine and if you ring a bottle you get it, also have a fire department, several shows and a regular second hand store. I am enjoying my old pipe while writing this little note and the sun is getting hotter than thunder again today.

Do you know when Kelly Shaw goes to camp? I see by the paper where they expect to have 4,000,000 men over here by the end of this year. I don't know but I really believe there's more men over here than the people in the States think there are. Tell Huffman that I watch them fish here or rather net fish. They catch eels and some other kinds that I don't know the names of. We passed several schools of porpoises on our way over on the boat. I am going to write Cy Queen a letter some of these days to let him know that another of the never sweats is over here. If pay day doesn't come soon I'll be broke. Drew my last pay at Camp Grant, about March 20th.

Sunday eve, and will try and write a few more lines tonight. Was down to the city this afternoon and believe me it was some hot dar. It looks good dark like we would have some rain tonight which will cool things off some if it only rains a little. Did you receive "your" Mother's Day letter. I mailed it on the 12th. I have not received any Camp Grant mail yet but expect to get it if it wasn't on a torpedoed ship. It will sure be fresh news.

It is starting to rain a little now and I just brought in my washing. I have something wrong with my left eye and guess I'll have to go and see what has gone wrong with it. You know I don't want to get a bum lamp and get shipped home until this war is over. Did you ever receive my insurance papers. I ordered them sent home. I forgot to say I might get my picture taken after I get my hair clipped and send one home. I am allowed to. Lots of the boys have theirs clipped. Slimmy you ought to be over here and see how they promenade on bicycles, everybody seems to ride and a good many of them use drop bars like the old Kelly bars when they were clear down, also have brakes that rub on the rear rim. They also have some beautiful hand embroidery work and all kinds of souvenirs of the war. Max has a birthday this week, hasn't he? Well, maybe I'll send him some kind of a cannon or a uniform or 42 centimeire shell for a present. Tell him to keep his eyes on Jerry as he might need some help carrying it. Well, I'll stop tonight and see if any mail comes tomorrow and if not I'll mail this. With love, from Jake.

Write soon. Pvt. M. R. Bragg, Co. A, 19th Ry. Engineers, American Expeditionary Force, Bellefontaine, Ohio.

May 20th. No mail yet today, but it was sure good and hot. I will tell you what a bum dinner we had yesterday: Roast beef, mashed potatoes, gravy, corn, peas, cake, pudding, bread and coffee. How do you like that for an army Sunday dinner, pretty good, don't you think? I am mailing a birthday card to Max today and if he is in camp sent it on to him, will you? You can open it and look at it if you want to.

May 22nd. Still hot and no mail yet today so will mail this and write again in a few days. Dode.

Following is a letter from Corporal Neil Mayer at Camp Mills to his mother, Mrs. Geo. Mayer, of 417 North Eleventh street:
Camp Mills, June 6, 1918.

Mother:
We left Camp Sherman at 2:00 o'clock Monday and arrived here at 4:30 Wednesday afternoon. We did not come through Newark as expected but went over the Big Four to Cleveland then east. We stopped at every large city along the way. It sure was a fine trip and if I ever get a chance to make it again I will sure do it. We rode along the Hudson river for miles and when we got up this morning we were in New Jersey. Then we took a boat from there to Brooklyn. On this little trip we passed under the three largest bridges in this country and by the Statue of Liberty. Camp Mills is only about 30 miles from Brooklyn.

We took a train from there out to the camp. In a couple of days we are going over to New York on a pass then I will send views of the place. The people here are a whole lot different from those at Chillum and we sure were treated fine all along the way. We would ride a while then we would get off and hike for ten minutes. We stopped at the town Aulieu, used to live in and gave a little review, that is we hiked up the main streets and we then stopped at a little town called Ravenna, in New York state, and stayed there from 5:00 until 12:00 that night. The band played and had quite a nice crowd out. Well mother, will have to close this time hoping to hear from some of you soon.

Corporal Neil Mayer.

English Women Guaranteeing Their Country's Food Supply for Next Year

War Work of English Women Covers Wide Field, From Grooming Horses to Felling Trees.

Thousands of able-bodied women have passed beyond the knitting-bandage-making stage over in Merrie England, leaving to children, cripples, and the aged these earliest and easiest war duties.

The war work of English women, translated in part, means grooming horses, doing forestry work, working on farms, making a business of hot-house vegetable raising, pitching hay, and in general, taking the places left vacant in the agricultural world by the absence of men workers who are at the front.

While one type of woman works in the cities in the factories and munitions plant, another type, sturdy, strong, and tireless, is guaranteeing England a supply of food for another year. From almost every walk of life, those women who are physically able, have taken their places in the fields, sometimes with a woman overseer but more often side by side with some man who has done his bit, earned his "blighty", and is home, barred forever from further war service on account of his wounds. These men often cannot do the work attempted by the young women, but they can give invaluable assistance and advice to "green horns".

Grooming horses isn't the pleasantest task in the world, but the women of England never hesitate. They know that to "carry on" means to do what one is best fitted for, not what one wishes to do. If one can groom horses, one does.

Clearing wooded land so that crops may be planted is harder than sweeping floors or serving tea. Yet a whole U. S. Food Administration.

army of women foresters, regular female Robin Hoods, clad in strange combinations of masculine and feminine garb, are toiling in the wooded districts of England.

Not so strenuous, but quite as tiring and important, is the raising of fresh vegetables, under cloches, and in hot-houses, so that an early supply of green things may be assured.

The accompanying pictures were passed by the Official Press Bureau in London.

GIRL STUDENTS WERE CANVASSING FOR A PRO-GERMAN BOOK

Sheriff Charles Swank was called to Hanover last Friday to make an investigation of two young women of Mt. Vernon, who were selling a book, said to be pro-German. They were in the village in the morning of that day and the sheriff did not receive the call until the afternoon and by that time they had left. Yesterday they were again reported to him and he found them on the road between Hanover and Purity. He gave them orders that no more of the books were to be sold in Licking county. Both of the young women were students and were canvassing to make a little extra money during the summer vacation, and were perfectly innocent of doing anything out of the way. Upon the advice of the sheriff they returned to Newark with him and returned to their homes at Mt. Vernon from here.

The title of the book was "A World In Perplexity," and the substance of it was that American people wanted peace at any price. The book was put on sale by J. C. Castle, head of the Ohio Tract Society. They also were taking orders for another book, "The Prophecies of the world," but had no copies of it in their possession and were selling it from a prospectus. The Sheriff carefully examined this but found nothing that pointed to the fact that this was pro-German, never-the-less the sale of both books will be prohibited in this county hereafter.

OBITUARY

Wm. W. Miller
William Washington Miller dropped dead at his home east of St. Louisville, Monday evening at 5:30 o'clock of heart failure. At the time he was stricken he was sitting at a table writing a letter. The deceased was one of the most highly respected citizens of the county and for the past 25 years had been justice of the peace of Newton township. He was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Miller and was born on October 9, 1844, and was aged 73 years, eight months and one day.

He is survived by the wife, five daughters and one son, besides a host of friends and relatives. Always of a kind and willing disposition his death will be a great loss to all.

The funeral services will be conducted at the St. Louisville Church of Christ, Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment will be made in the St. Louisville cemetery.

Funeral of Frank M. Shiner
The funeral services for Frank Manly Shiner, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Shiner of Linden avenue, who was killed in an automobile accident at Salt Lake City a week ago today, were conducted this morning at 10 o'clock at the Shiner home, Rev. L. C. Sparks officiating.

The remains arrived yesterday from Utah the body resting in a casket around which was entwined an American flag with the Elks emblem. Mr. Shiner having been a past exalted ruler of the Salt Lake City lodge. Public funeral services were held there before the remains were sent to Newark.

Interment was made in Cedar Hill cemetery, immediate relatives acting as pall bearers while the honorary pallbearers of Newark Lodge of Elks were R. W. Smith, Walter Daugherty, Ab. Thomas, J. P. Cherry, Fred S. Wilson, Chas. D. Lake and Mandel Brashears.

Card of Thanks.
We desire to express our appreciation to our neighbors and friends for their kind assistance during the illness and death of wife and mother, Mrs. Anna E. Proctor, also for beautiful floral tributes.

PET SHOW AT THE Y. M. C. A. TUESDAY, JULY 2

The Licking County Humane Society, in connection with the Y. M. C. A., will have a children's "Pet Show" the second day of July. All pets, from white mice to large dogs, will be entered, and if there is a pet in town which does not get into this show, it can consider itself out of the fashion. Every animal in the show is assured of a blue ribbon, for no other kinds will be awarded.

The conditions of entry are that the owner shall join the "Band of Mercy" which is the junior division of the Humane Society; membership in this band is ten cents a year, and must be paid before the pet will be accepted. Entries are being made right along at the Y. M. C. A. office, and the affair promises to be a big one.

C. F. Lender, of the Y. M. C. A., who has the details in charge, has conducted a show of this kind in another city, which proved a great success. Charles C. Metz, president of the Humane Society, is enthusiastic about the exhibition of pets, and is planning an open meeting for this date, of the Humane Society.

It is hoped that Bands of Mercy may be formed throughout the city, when school opens in the fall; the committee who has this juvenile work in charge is composed of Rev. D. A. Greene, J. Kent Cox, Miss Katherine Metz, and C. F. Lender. If "cruelty is the devil's trademark" it should never be seen in Newark, and one of the surest ways to keep it off our children's foreheads is to give them pets to care for. "We learn to love by serving, and by serving, love will grow." So far, the largest group of pets from any one boy is that offered by Albert Graves of 241 Eddy street. It consists of seven guinea pigs, one pair bantams, one pair Rhode Island Reds, a "biddy" with chicks, and a dog who barks to the name of "Byng."

All of the members were present but one and a short business meeting was held. During the evening a delicious lunch was served by the hostess. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Fred Stowell in Granville street, June 19.

In honor of Miss Esther Kissane, whose marriage to Mr. Frederick Chase is an event of this month, the Misses Nova Baumgarten and Isabelle Somers entertained with a prettily arranged porch-party at the home of the latter's sister, Mrs. Eugene Jackson, North Twenty-first street.

The afternoon was informally spent in sewing, at the conclusion of which the honor-guest was surprised with many pretty and useful gifts.

The guests were: Mrs. Kenneth Hall, Mrs. Wilfred Rawlings, Mrs. Stanford Smith, Miss Gladys Ayres, Faye Emery, Lillian Johnson, Irene McMahon, Gladys Keenan, Nellie Smith, Mary Gayman, Ruth Porry, Laura Broome and Ruth Felmaue.

SILK FLAG WON BY NEWARK LODGE FOR LARGEST GAIN

The Knights of Pythias grand lodge convention convened Monday at Springfield. Newark lodge is represented by Jay B. Lentz, M. B. Penney and E. L. Schmitt. Roland Lodge by J. S. Loughman, Arch Woodard, C. E. Root and C. L. Vauatta. The representatives report a large attendance. On their return, Thursday evening, they will bring with them a beautiful silk flag won by Newark lodge for the largest gain in membership during the year 1917. On Thursday evening the Newark Pythians will fittingly celebrate the event by knighting a class of 25 candidates. The celebrated knight rank team of Fidelity lodge, Coshocton, will confer the degree.

There will be a parade in the evening, headed by the uniform rank, under the command of Capt. Eugene Woilasky, followed by the three degree teams—namely, Fidelity, Roland and Newark, clad in their Grecian costumes. The famous Buckeye band will furnish the music. The parade will leave the hall at 7 o'clock and march around the north side of the square, returning to the hall where the degree work will begin promptly at 8 o'clock. All Pythians in the city are invited to take part in the parade. Refreshments will be served.

Fity the Sorrows of the Poor!

COL. E. A. DEEDS TELLS OF PROGRESS IN AIRCRAFT WORK

(Special to The Advocate.)
Granville, O., June 11.—At a charmingly appointed dinner in Shepardon commons last evening, President and Mrs. C. W. Chamberlain entertained members of the board of trustees and their wives, among the many present being C. T. Lewis of Toledo, president of the board, and Mrs. Lewis, and Colonel E. A. Deeds of Dayton and Washington, D. C., and alumnus and trustee of Denison and member of the United States aircraft board, with Mrs. Deeds. At the conclusion of the dinner, Dr. Chamberlain requested the guests to remain seated as Mr. Lewis had an announcement to make. This announcement was followed by a request to Colonel Deeds that he give a little after-dinner talk about the aircraft situation to-date. His response was an absorbing story of the most stupendous undertaking with which any group of men in the world had ever before been confronted, and whose initial mistake had been overconfidence and the allowing of flamboyant promises made in the press of the country. But even with all the little inevitable hindrances and lack of raw material, lack of labor, of coal, of transportation facilities, and lack of

So-called "bargains" are deceptive. Remember this when coffee peddlers offer "something for nothing," "reduced prices" etc., etc.

For full value, trade with your grocer. Unlike the wandering peddler, he must give you your money's worth. Unlike the peddler with his dusty wagon, he keeps a clean store with trademarked goods of full value, full weight like Golden Sun Coffee—the chaff-free coffee that makes more cups to the pound. freedom of speech in "answering back," the board is only 90 days behind its schedule which at that is ahead of any other department in Washington. The "Liberty motor" has made good and battleplanes are being turned out every day. There are 248 factories with thousands of men at work. There is spruce in plenty which is being turned out by an army of 12,000 men; who have had to cope with alien interference; castor oil, manufactured from beans shipped from India and planted in this country, will be ready within five weeks; cloth for the wings has been manufactured from United States cotton, instead of Irish flax, which is pronounced even superior to the linen; guns have been modified and synchronized; bombs installed with necessary devices; automatic cameras and other inventions have been perfected, all of which has taken time. But every American aviator ready for flight has been equipped and will continue to be equipped as rapidly as they can be gotten ready. It is a magnificent program, and Colonel Deeds is severely confident of the outcome of the investigation which he hopes will be as thorough as possible. Mr. Deeds remarked at the conclusion of the talk that Colonel Deeds had always enjoyed the entire confidence of those who know him best, who are assured of his integrity, his uprightness, his patriotism and his devotion to duty, and that he needs no vindication before this people. Colonel and Mrs. Deeds are guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Deeds, West Broadway.

93 SELECTS WILL LEAVE FOR CAMP WEEK OF 24TH

The next quota of selects from the city and county will leave Newark during the five days' period beginning June 24. On this call the city will furnish 52 men and the county 41. The entrainment orders have not been received by the local board but both quotas will be sent to Camp Sherman.

The dentists of both the city and county are gratefully taking care of the teeth of the selects as they have done for the men already in camp. Each man, who has dentistry work to be performed is notified to report to one of the dentists at an appointed hour by the local board and his teeth are put in the best possible condition. The action of the dentists of offering their services was entirely voluntary and their motive was purely a patriotic one and is appreciated not only by the men but the government as well.

Milady's Boudoir

Summer Exercises.
The most permanent injury to the summer girls' beauty is that she has done much bathing, has been done to her hair. Sea water and strong sunlight do not bleach the hair evenly, but streak it and give it a heavy matted appearance. The appointments of a summer hotel bedroom do not, as a rule, afford a girl the needed opportunity to care for her hair properly but on her trips to town, she should have it taken in hand.

To her hair is oily and streaked she will probably find more dandruff than usual on her scalp. For this, let her beat one egg thoroughly and add it to a pint of tepid water. Strain through a fine bag or sieve so that no particles of the egg will stick to the hair. Rub this into the scalp thoroughly, so that the dandruff will be loosened, then shampoo the hair with warm water in which has been dissolved a tablespoon of powdered borax and plenty of pure white soap. Rub the hair thoroughly and dry by patting it was warm, soft towels and by fanning.

Do not dress the hair until it is thoroughly dry, and even when it seems free from moisture, lift it from the scalp and shake it constantly. The more air you give the hair and the more ventilation the scalp has, the less there will be in it. If the hair is in very bad condition, two shampoos during the first week are not too much, and after that a weekly allowance may be given.

On the other hand, if the hair becomes dry and harsh, rub vaseline into the roots and brush the hair one hundred strokes before retiring. Scalp massage is an important factor in reducing the hair to its normal condition and it will really pay the summer resort girl to take advantage of the skill of a hair dresser every time she makes a trip to town.

Our Boys and Girls

I am always sorry for the woman who constantly sighs and says: "Well, they didn't do it that way when I was a girl. I am sorry for that because she has never grown in intelligence since she was a girl. If her children romp home from school fresh with new ideas on ventilation or a new method of working out their algebra, this self-same woman will hold up her hands and exclaim that they didn't do it that way when she was a girl."

She cannot realize that while she has supposedly grown in intelligence, for the last 25 years, the whole system of the world has changed. She is one of the people who retard progression. She is the kind of woman who cannot understand her daughter's desire to for trout instead of polka, and she is the kind who nags, and fusses and tries at all times to turn the hands of time backward.

Don't be this kind of a woman for the sake of your children and for the sake of progression. Accept things as they are and try to adjust yourself to the trend of the times.

Every Day Etiquette

"Will you kindly tell me if it is proper to hang gloves and low neck in an afternoon dress?" was May's question.

It is quite usual for a woman to have an afternoon dress made with long sleeves and low neck," was her friend's reply.

ALUMNI PRESENT AT DENISON FOR THE CLASS DAY

(Special to Advocate.)

Granville, June 11.—Tuesday of commencement week at Denison has always been devoted to the outgoing class. Today a number of time ago relations to the various class reunions and to the board of trustees, closing the perfect day with the president's reception on the main campus. The day's program began early, with class breakfasts in various places, where the looked on the college days and recalled friendships are more firmly cemented and class organizations are perfected.

At 10 o'clock this morning, class day activities were held on the South

Denison Campus, where the slope of the hill forms a natural amphitheatre, from which the audience not only can view the performance but can at the same time breathe the pure air and absorb the beauty of a scene unsurpassed by any other college.

At 11 o'clock the annual class day assembly in Stone hall for the annual business meeting adjourned at 12:30 for the annual luncheon in the Commons at which covers were laid for two hundred.

At 2 o'clock an informal reception of alumni was held at the headquarters rooms in the Baptist church where the register already shows nearly 500 names. S. B. Bailey, of Chicago, president of the Society of the Alumni, has been on the ground since Monday morning, and the day's program shows the effect of his efficient planning. At 2 o'clock was held the annual alumni dinner, at which the class of 1918

was welcomed to the society by Mr.

Bailey.

Mrs. Karl Ashton at her vesper concert last evening presented one of the most delightful of the many high class programs yet enjoyed. Thoroughly musical in feeling, Mrs. Ashton im-passed her unusual charm in her interpretations, which included the "Suite in Minor" by Boronksi, with three movements: "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot,"

"Sundown" and "The Swan." The

"Concert Overture in C-Minor," Alfred

Hollins. She was assisted by Miss Lois

Lockhart, contralto, who sang "The

Bark," Hawley and "Morning," Oley

Sparks, with charming expression.

Mrs. J. S. Graham will entertain the Methodist church at her home in Lou-den street, Thursday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock. All members of the church and friends of the church who desire to attend will find automobiles at the church which will convey them to the Graham residence, promptly at 1:30.

Beta Theta Pi entertained the following guests at Sunday dinner: Mr. and Mrs. Collins, Mr. and Mrs. Dold, Mrs.

W. A. Houchens, Mr. and Mrs. Barnes, Mr. and Mrs. Edgerly, Ottumwa,

Iowa; Mrs. Nelson, Lipp, Mrs. William

Tomkins, Mrs. R. Hopkins, Miss

Paul, Granville, Mr. Frank Spencer,

Newark.

At the Lewis Prize contest Monday evening between the Collegians and

Franklin literary societies, honors were awarded to G. E. Cressey, affirma-

GERMAN TOYS MADE OF WOOD

Makers Forced to Use That Material Because Better Stuff is Now Almost Unobtainable.

The German toy industry is showing the effects of three years of war. Simplicity is the rule in toy shops at present.

Wood, which formerly was used only for cheaper sorts of toys, is now the chief material employed. The manufacture of new dolls is becoming impossible through the lack of flour (used with cement in making the bodies).

Wax, which is employed for the heads of the better class dolls, is almost unobtainable; the same is true of the stuffs and lace used for making dolls'

shoes, hats, dresses, stockings, etc.

These are obtainable only at prices

four times higher than before the war, consequently the prices of toys are higher.

The simple, cheap toys that formerly could be bought in the stores or from street vendors for 10 pfennigs now cost

20 pfennigs or more. Jumping jacks of paper and cheap picture books no longer

can be had except where old sup-

AMUSEMENTS

"DU BARRY"

WILLIAM FOX PRODUCTION

Wednesday and Thursday.
With the greatest cast ever assembled for stage or screen, "Masks and Faces" is coming to the Alhambra Wednesday and Thursday. It was only because this superb production was made for a war charity that it was possible to gather this great assemblage together for a picture. When it was determined to make the picture it was decided that there must be no cast prejudice—in other words, no one of the actors selected should be at all backward about playing any of the parts, no matter how small they might be. So, for this reason we see the most accomplished actors playing minor parts with skill and understanding and giving to the whole presentation a finish which it would be impossible to attain any other way. Heading the cast is Sir Johnston Forbes-Robertson, the greatest living exponent of the art of acting. He is seen in the role of Trip, the struggling poet who is befriended by Peg Worthington, the famous stage beauty. The role of Peg is portrayed by Irene Vanbrugh.

GRAND.

Alice Joyce.

Glimpses of underworld life in a great city are strikingly pictured in "The Song of the Soul" which will be the attraction in the Grand Theatre tonight and tomorrow. Several of the scenes show an "exclusive" gambling establishment in full operation and the director has overlaid nothing that might add to realism. Alice Joyce is starred in the feature, in the role of Ann, in which she is the supposed wife of a gambler and cast out on the world, penniless and with her baby, she fights her way back to a happiness she missed only through her own innocence.

AUDITORIUM

"The Studio Girl," Paul West's adaptation from "La Gamine" by Pierre Veber and Henri de Gorsse, directed by Charles Giblyn and a Select Star Series production starring Constance Talmadge, was shown at the Auditorium yesterday to large and appreciative crowds. This clever comedienne adds another to her list of portrayals of "regular American girls. She escapes from a loveless marriage with the village lout by hiding in the tonneau of Frazer Grayson's car; he is returning to New York after a vacation at Cliff Haven, Celina's home town, and she had struck up a warm friendship with him there. Frazer is engaged to another girl but he soon realizes his real love for the little country maiden. How she aids him to get out of this "entanglement" and also to evade the charge of abduction for which the village constables come to arrest him, make a thoroughly enjoyable picture of delightful comedy.

It is shown today for the last time together with the latest Mutt and Jeff comedy, "The Hospital Orderlies" by Bud Fisher and the Hearst-Pathe News. None should miss this wonderful program.

"On the Level"

Auditorium picture fans are in for another treat in the appearance of Fannie Ward in "On the Level." The story by Charles Keyton was arranged for the screen by Marion Fairfax, who is one of the well known writers of this country.

If names were everything, there would be nothing left to do in this picture. In this production, besides Fannie Ward, there are Little Pickford, Harrison Forbes, Jack Dean, Jas. Cruze, James Heil, Jane Wolf and others. In this production Miss Ward wears many of her famous gowns and the story has to do with the daughter of a sheep ranchman out west, whose father is killed by robbers and who is left to fight her battle against the world alone. Through her help in redeeming a drug fiend, she finally falls in love with her patient and the complications begin to arise. It would not be quite fair to tell you the story, so we suggest that you see "On the Level" at the Auditorium tomorrow (Wednesday only).

"Du Barry"

Theda Bara, for the first time in her stage career, has become a blonde. The world will be startled to see that in the latter part of "Du Barry," which Miss Bara is making for Wm. Fox, she appears in long golden curls. It is an unnecessary to say that they are extremely becoming to her.

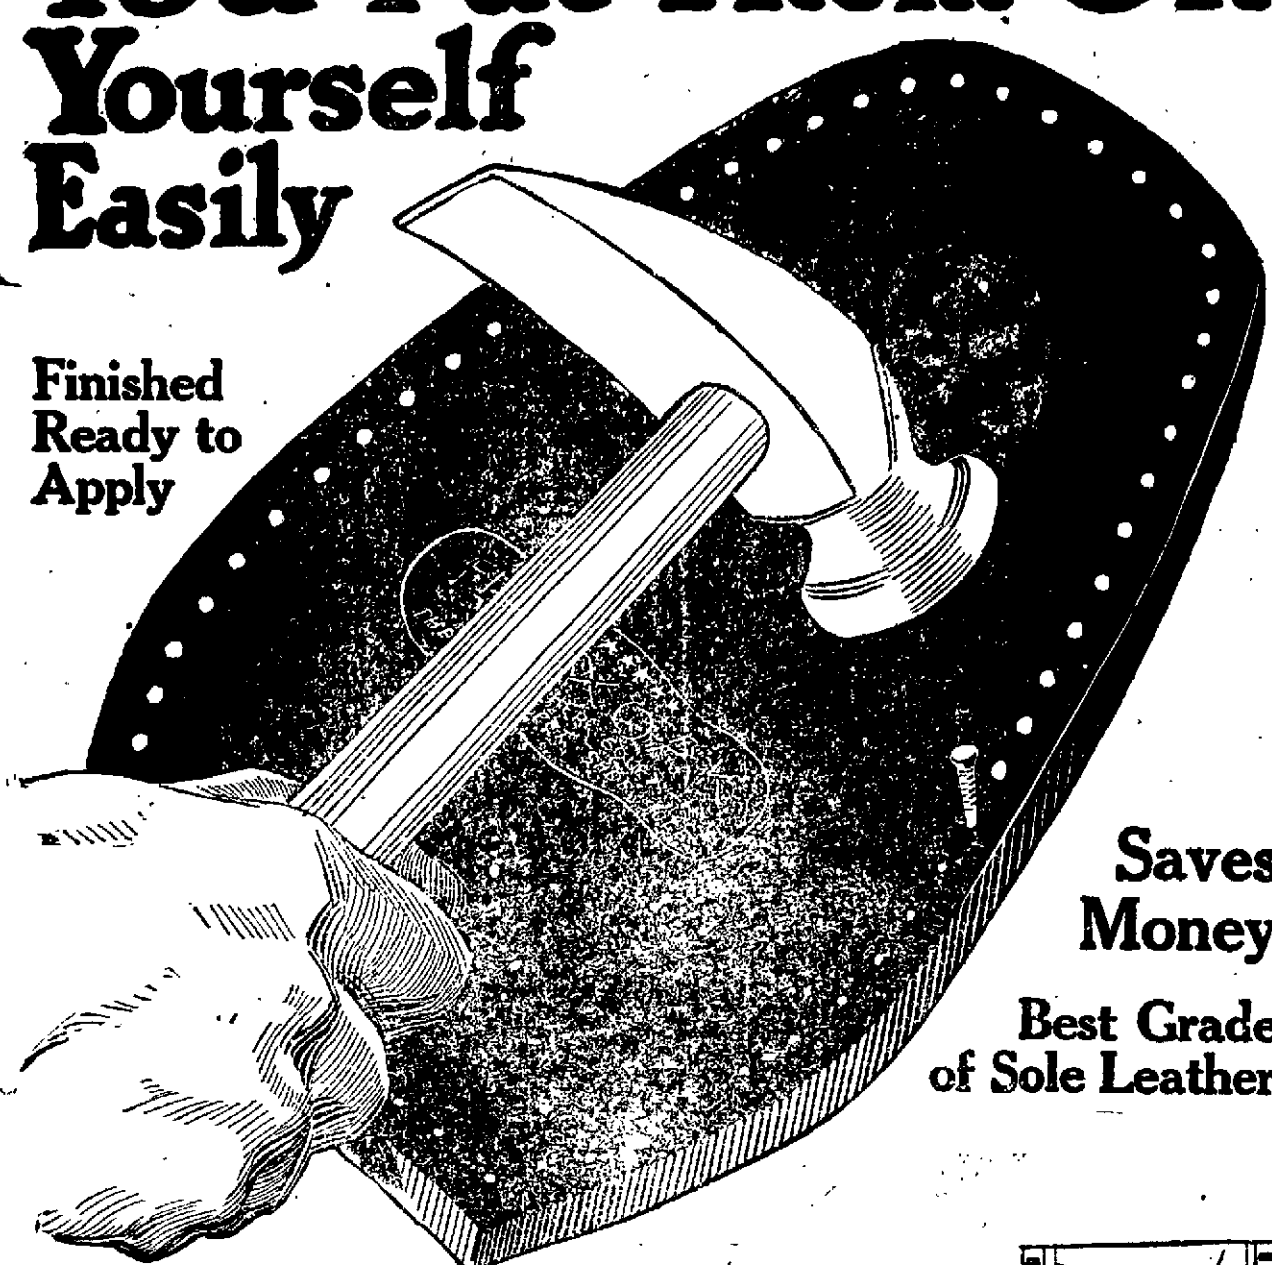

History demands that this hair be used, and Miss Bara, who has studied the life of Mme. du Barry with immense minuteness, decided that there was nothing else to do but to conform to history. The Bara comedies in "Du Barry" at the Auditorium next Monday and Tuesday.

"The Blue Bird"

SUDDEN DEATH OF HENRY S. HALLWOOD, COLUMBUS INVENTOR

Columbus, June 11.—Henry Spencer Hallwood, aged 70, veteran Columbus manufacturer and inventor, died at his residence, 776 Franklin avenue, last night from heart disease.

Mr. Hallwood apparently was well at dinner time. An hour after he complained of feeling ill, and a physician was summoned. He died an hour afterwards.

He invented important cash register devices, parts of computing scales, time clock, car coupling and the Hallwood paving block.

For 36 years Mr. Hallwood had been a citizen of Columbus. He came from Charleston, W. Va. Born at Stockton Heath, Cheshire, near Warrington, England, he proceeded to Canada on his wedding trip in 1874. Mrs. Hallwood died March 12, last.

Through the Hallwood block, a patented paving block, Mr. Hallwood's name literally is engraved across the United States.

Shortly after he had been firmly established in the paving business he acquired cash register patents, and by perfecting them evolved the Hallwood cash register, establishing a company to manufacture registers bearing his name.

The Hallwood Cash Register Company of Columbus was succeeded some years ago by the American Cash Register Company, now located in Saginaw, Mich.

Mr. Hallwood filed several suits against the National Cash Register Company, charging infringement on his patent rights. The latter company, two years ago, settled with him for $250,000, it is said. Mr. Hallwood then organized the Hallwood Brick and Tile Company, also some coal and river transport companies.

The Month's Musical Happenings

FARRAR INTERPRETS THE MEDITATION FROM THAIS

McCormack, De Luca, Jascha Heifetz and Paderewski are also heard in new expressions of their art

ICH, indeed, is the present month in musical offerings. No less than five of the world's greatest artists have been inspired to sing and play for a new Victor Records, while a number of new popular and patriotic songs and a specialities take their places with others in the new music.

Geraldine Farrar, in her presentation of the beloved "Meditation," rises to the heights of artistry. It is in the final scene of Massenet's popular drama that she interprets this in the death-bed scene, where she recognizes Athanael, as he returns to her unable to resist her beauty. But Thais is beyond all human relationship. She sees him but recognizes not the man, only the priest who led her across the desert to the oasis, the instrument of God, who revealed to her the beauty of religion and the truth of life.

In a melody divinely wedded to the music of the ever-loving "Meditation," she recalls the incidents of the journey. The music of the "Meditation," which accompanies the voice of Farrar throughout, is a celestial, passionate song of violin mounting above harp notes of gold and the clear chime of the brass, is worked up to a climax of the greatest power and beauty, the voice of the heavenly vision unfolds.

War, aside from its horrors, is ever the great awakener of tender emotions, and such emotions find ready relief in song; so it is not surprising that many writers in times like these are inspired to thus express lofty sentiments. It is a song of this character that John McCormack is making his presentation of it in his drive from Coast to Coast while raising a $100,000 Red Cross fund.

"God Be With You Boys Tonight," on new Victor Records, is a song whose words we all can echo. Set to stirring music, McCormack sings it with such fervid sincerity that to hear the record is to be thrilled with the sense of the sacrifice entailed and the glorious end that makes the sacrifice worth while.

Reinhold Werrenrath also enters the month's patriotic lists with the presentation of two songs, both on new Victor Records. One is "Lafayette (We Hear You Calling)." Something of the spirit of the song must have animated General Pershing on the day he headed himself and his hundred thousand American soldiers to Foch on behalf of the American people.

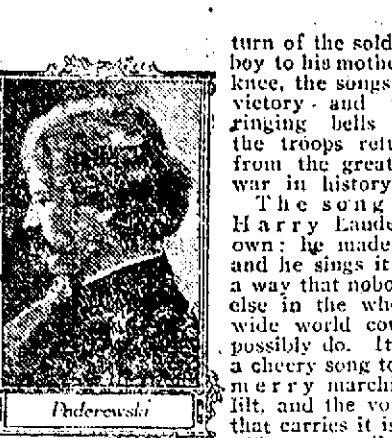

The United States entered the war as we now see clearly, from sheer necessity to defend herself; but we are fortunate that our entry carries with it an opportunity to give France, in the hour of need, the same service Lafayette and France gave us.

The other Werrenrath presentation is "Freedom For All Forever," which also expresses aspirations we all hold dear. The title was originally suggested as an American war slogan. Lieut. B. C. Hillman, of the Royal Canadian forces, wrote the lyrics, and the words and music of this splendid song which Werrenrath has so superbly recorded.

"Three Wonderful Letters from Home" is effective in its simplicity. Charles Hurl, on a new Victor Record, it describes the loving words sent by mother, wife, and baby to the soldier who is in France. It also tells of the delight they give when he tells a soldier that he is singing the melody of the tender refrain.

On the same record Elizabeth Spencer presents "Baby Mine," which recalls the day a mother sends her child a letter. When he finds a message from his wife, saying that a little one has arrived. These two numbers will help to make all of us realize the infinite pleasure of home in the time may get from "a word from home."

"Sailor" Billy sings two war-time hits, on a Victor Record, which show the real American spirit. "I'll Be With You, Boys!" is a faithful picture of the sailor's life, and the "Zee" after the American navy has done its little bit. "Any Old Place the Gang" is a song of the sailor's life, and the "Zee" after the American navy has done its little bit.

turn of the soldier boy to his mother's love, the songs of victory, and the ringing bells as the troops return from the greatest war in history.

The song is Harry Lauder's own; he made it and he sings it in a way that nobody else in the whole wide world could possibly do. It is a churning song to a merry marching tune, and the voice that carries it is a trifle more mellow, richer, and sweeter than that of the singer's own.

By way of recitation James H. Heron presents two patriotic selections, this month on a Victor Record. "The Singing Soldier" is the title of the one, which is based on a sentiment of one of the foremost of American generals, that "singing soldiers are fighting soldiers."

It pictures the soldiers in the trenches singing the old songs grave and gay that have been heard in America the last forty years. Burning words pay tribute to the gallant men who face every horror of modern warfare with a laugh.

"The Mother's Answer" is a poem by James H. Heron, who lost his only son in the war. It is in answer to a pacifist poem read before a congress of women in Washington. The wonderful spirit of sacrifice in the poem is brought out by Mr. Heron's recital in a way that makes one realize the unflinching loyalty the Canadians have exhibited for their mother country since the beginning.

Two British patriotic selections sung by Murray Johnson are among the latest Victor recordings, viz., "The Goose Step" and "When We've Won the War." Both are on the new record.

Turning to the realm of the sublime in music, Paderewski has chosen to play for a new Victor Record that heaven-sent melody which has enthralled the world for nearly a century—Chopin's "Nocturne in F Major." This masterpiece begins serenely, suggestive of a calm night with star-dusted sky and gently blowing breezes, but soon the storm breaks and here the master hands of Paderewski sweep the keyboard with passionate animation. Then returning to the softer mood the notes of the gentle melody seem to float on the sound of distant bells at eventide.

New dance music by band and orchestras. The original Dixieland Jazz Band plays some new numbers, compelling in their appeal to ear and eye. Paradoxically speaking with respect to a Jazz Band the worse it is the better it is. If you have heard a Jazz band before and feel that you already know their music, you must hear this Victor Record containing "At the Jazz Band Ball"—a one step; and "Ostrich Walk"—a fox trot. There is rhythm, harmony and melody in both these numbers, yet they are highly diversified in character.

Another Victor Record contains two waltz numbers exceptionally graceful to dancers, for good waltzes are rare, and they still must play by a good dance orchestra. McKee's Orchestra plays "Forget-me-Not" waltz, and Sergeant Markels' Orchestra discourses the haunting melody of the Felicia Waltz.

Jascha Heifetz, that youthful wizard of the violin, comes forward this month with an exquisite interpretation on a Victor Record of Joseph Achorn's "Hobnob Waltz." It is so hauntingly beautiful that you will love it at first hearing; yet it will take many hearings before the message it tells reaches you in all its fullness.

The beginning it voices all the passionate longing of a chosen people, dispossessed of their inheritance, finally breaking out into a frenzy of anguish. A terrible climax is reached and the whirling notes descend downward to the somnolent lower strings in apparent exhaustion. At the last the music dies away on notes of honey-sweetness. Perhaps the emotional intensity Heifetz puts into this "Hobnob Waltz" is due to the fact that he witnessed some of the horrors of the Russian pogrom while still a child.

Victor Light Opera Company presents recent musical comedy gems. Dainty and fascinating is the musical comedy recently produced at the Princess Theatre, New York City, "Lady! A melody of its finest numbers is presented on a new Victor Record, which includes: chorus, "When All the Little Ships Come Sailing Home"; solo, "Not Yet"; solo, "Before I Met You"; chorus, "Going Up"; and chorus, "You Found Me and I Found You."

On the reverse of the same record some of the high spots of the equally successful musical comedy "Going Up," are seven. They include: chorus, "Don't Let Left Right"; solo, "If You Look in Her Eyes"; duet, "Kiss Me"; solo, "I Want a Determined Boy"; chorus, "Going Up"; and chorus, "The Tickle Toe."

The month's quota of sentimental songs on Victor Records includes "For the Two of Us" rendered by Wright and Dietrich, and "I Hate to Lose You," by the Peerless Quartet. Both are on the new record.

GEN. HALE ISSUES STRINGENT SET OF NEW CAMP RULES

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Camp Sherman, Chillicothe, O., June 11.—Troops awakened this morning to a new set of stringent rules issued by Major General Harry C. Hale of the Eighty-Fourth Division, National Army, camp commandant.

No civilians will be allowed in any of the barracks or officers' quarters of the camp at any hour of the day or night. Women will not be allowed to leave Columbus avenue, the principal thoroughfare through camp, excepting those visiting the community building after 5 p. m. Automobile drivers cannot operate their cars at more than 15 miles an hour and must slow up when more than ordinary dust is raised.

The rule, governing the visit of women in camp, interrupts plans made by welfare workers. Several dances, scheduled for the latter part of this week and first of next in Knights of Columbus buildings, have been cancelled as a result of the order.

General Hale also announced a daily conference of all staff officers to be held at the main Y. M. C. A. auditorium at 11:30 a. m. Two meetings of officers were held last night, the general speaking at both. General Hale discussed war plans and the work which he has planned.

An order was issued late yesterday barring all cameras from camp. Under the Eighty-Fourth Division, cameras were not only allowed just before the division was moved, but civilians taking pictures of soldiers were not molested.

Major F. H. Baird of Washington, D. C., visited the camp yesterday on an inspection. The major complimented Lieutenant Colonel F. L. Case for the manner in which the camp quartermaster's work has been conducted.

Indigestion and practically all forms of stomach trouble, say medical authorities, are due nine times out of ten to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach. Chronic "acid stomach" is exceedingly dangerous and sufferers should do either one of two things.

Either they can go on a limited and often disagreeable diet, avoiding foods that disagree with them, that irritate the stomach and lead to excess acid secretion or they can eat as they please in reason and make it a practice to counteract the effect of the harmful acid and prevent the formation of gas, sourness or premature fermentation by the use of a little Bisurated Magnesia at their meals.

There is probably no better, safer or more reliable stomach antacid than Bisurated Magnesia and it is widely used for this purpose. It has no direct action on the stomach and is not a digestant. But a teaspoonful of the powder or a couple of five grain tablets taken in a little water with the food will neutralize the excess acidity which may be present and prevent its further formation. This removes the whole cause of the trouble and the meal digests naturally and healthfully without need of pepsin pills or artificial digestants.

Get a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia from any reliable druggist. Ask for either powder or tablets. It never comes as a liquid, milk or citrate and in the bisurated form is not a laxative. Try this plan and eat what you want at your next meal and see if it isn't the best advice you ever had on "what to eat."

CORRECT WAY TO MEASURE WEALTH

Don't Count It by the Money You Possess, but by Your Health.

What is your wealth? Do you measure it by your money or your health? Preferably the latter, always, for without good health there is only misery left.

Are you one of those men or women who are all tired out most of the time, with a sluggish mind and dull memory? Are your nerves all on edge and do you jump at the slightest noise or shake from sudden excitement?

Do you have dull throbbing headaches, dizzy spells, weak back and lack of energy and ambition? If you do, you need something to restore your poor, debilitated organs to a normal, natural state. That something is Taniae, the new tonic appetizer and invigorant.

Men and women everywhere testify to the merits of Taniae. Why not, therefore, test it yourself today? Your health is your wealth; your judgment your own.

Taniae remedies are being introduced in Newark at Erman's Arcade drug store. Taniae may also be procured at the Evans pharmacy (Warden Hotel block, east side square, Newark), and the Hebron Drug store, Hebron, O.—(Adv.)

Readers' Viewpoint

Editor—Mr. Spring's statement under communication in June 10 edition was a most plausible one; to one that is familiar with the tenets of the late "Pastor" Russell, German propagandism would be the least pernicious of his misleading, soul-destroying teachings. No better way to encourage the elements of crime in human nature could be found than by circulating the books and preaching the doctrine of Russellism.

"Russellism is the message that brings glad tidings of great joy to every criminal; to every robber; every murderer. It takes away the fear of the hangman's rope and the dread of the electric chair. The criminal can afford to laugh at them. Even if he should suffer death by either of these means he would not suffer afterward. To him there will be the peace of non-existence till brought to life again; and if then, he is tired of sinning he may turn over a new leaf and live forever in that age of ages where he shall have nothing to do but eat and live and live to eat. Here is a religion that offers a premium on every crime in the calendar; guarantees eternal life and felicity to every wicked man who ever lived, and assures the wicked of today that his very wickedness will be a great advantage—a 'valuable asset'—to help him live a life of joy and peace forever, and off of this offered in the name of our Holy Bible, and in the sacred name of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ."

Mothers, do you wonder that our president forbids the dissemination of this literature throughout our cantonnments? Would you have your sons' souls salvation imperilled by a religion that teaches they will have a "second chance" to accept Christ as their Saviour beyond the grave? Instead of casting aspersions on the mayor of our city he should be given a vote of thanks by every right-minded, thoughtful citizen. There is one statement of "Pastor" Russell's that I would respectfully call the attention of your readers to: "The professing Christian church was rejected of God in 1878."

Without our churches we would soon revert to such doctrines as Russellism foisted upon a portion of the unthinking public; the strongest motive for opposing this false teaching is a prayerful desire to save souls from the deadly thought of a false security, when there is for them only the sure judgment that will fall upon all who do not accept Christ. "He the believeth not is condemned already." A Subscriber.

Women Are Immune.
Psychologists have recently found that certain patients are afraid of mirrors—a result of watching the change in appearance as emaciation progresses. When a dyspeptic is cured his horror of looking in a mirror persists. This is called catoptrophobia. Popular Science Monthly.

CIRCUMVENTED
By TOM MASSON.
(Copyright, 1918, Western Newspaper Union.)
It takes all kinds of people to make a world. Some men when their wives leave them improve the occasion to have a high old time. They go out, so to speak, and "revel." Others do not. They prefer to stay home quietly and take it easy. They crave that comfortable solitude that is necessary to the best kind of sanity. Whipton belonged to this class.

After bidding his wife good-bye at the station he turned back with a fond anticipatory smile and said soulfully to himself: "Now for that quiet hour to myself. Now for that long-looked-forward-to mental repose."

And so he went home and began to make preparations to carry out his program.

"Is there anything," he said to himself, "more delightful than to be absolutely alone?"

He settled back into his easy chair, his book at his elbow, his cigar box near his book.

Then the telephone bell rang.

"Oh, Mr. Whipton," the voice said, "I have only just this minute awakened to the fact that Mrs. Whipton has gone off and left you. You must come and dine with us tonight."

"But—" "Now, don't say anything, but come. I know you haven't any engagement, and I wouldn't think of having you stay in that lonesome house for anything. It isn't good, you know, for any man to be alone. Remember, seven sharp."

"I shall be delighted," said Whipton.

What else could he say? The lady meant well.

He got home at eleven. The next morning he ran across Crabley.

"Ah, old man, hear your wife's away. Must come and dine with us tonight. Oh, nonsense! Know, you can't have any engagement. Only too glad to have you. It's the duty of your friends to see you are not lonesome. Besides, we want you. That's right. Six-thirty."

Whipton went. He had to. "But tomorrow," he said, "I'll fool 'em."

There was that easy chair; there was that book; there was the quiet evening hour that he so longed for—all in prospect. No one must cheat him out of that.

He sneaked through side streets. He came home early to avoid meeting the "regulars." He told the maid with exultant voice to say to all telephone ringers that he was not at home and wouldn't be.

Then there was a rattle and a snort. Bilkins, in his automobile, was in front.

"Hey, there!" he shouted just as Whipton was closing the blind. "Glad I caught you. Heard your wife was away. Come, get right in and take a spin and then come and dine with me. Must do it, old man. Wouldn't have you stay home alone for anything. Give you the 'willies.' Come on, now!"

There was no help for it. Whipton gave one last look at his book, his cigars, his easy chair, and followed his friend obediently out to his snorting dragon.

The next day Mrs. Whipton came back.

"Well," said she after the usual greeting, "what did you do?"

"The first night I dined at the Feltons', the second at the Crableys' and last night at the Bilkins'. I could have banged them all over the head for spoiling my solitude."

"Nonsense!" exclaimed Mrs. Whipton. "I told them to look after you."

"You did, did you?" snorted Whipton. "That's it, is it? Well, didn't you know I wanted to be alone? Didn't you know I had been looking forward to having a few precious hours to myself once in a lifetime? Can't you appreciate what this meant to me?"

Mrs. Whipton was nothing if not up to date.

SCOFFERS AND DOUBTERS Why Let Prejudice Bind you to a Life of Rheumatic Torture.

Be fair to yourself, you sufferer from rheumatism, no matter what form. Go to T. J. Evans or any good druggist and get a package of rheuma, the guaranteed prescription. Use the entire bottle, and if you don't think it has given you quick and sure relief, say so, and you can have your money back.

Isn't that a fair offer? Can you see any deceit or red tape about it? What chance do you take? Absolutely none. Then get a bottle of Rheuma today. It's a reputable physician's prescription, altogether different from remedies usually prescribed. Rheuma is a rheumatic, and perfectly harmless. Rheuma acts on the kidneys and helps to force the uric acid from the swollen joints and other lodging places. It pleases you in a day; it makes you hopeful and happy in a week. It has released from bondage rheumatic sufferers who thought nothing would give relief. It should do as much for you—it seldom fails.

Don't miss this money-back offer. A good bottle, sufficient for two weeks' treatment, is inexpensive.

ARE PREPARING FOR A SHORTAGE OF NATURAL GAS.

Notifications dealing with the use of natural gas were sent out Monday, and are a reproduction of the administrative order of the public utilities commission. They are intended to cover a probable shortage of gas and the consumer for domestic purposes is given the preference. In order to cut off patrons in an emergency of shortage the users are divided into two classes, domestic and industrial. The domestic consumers include users of gas for heating, lighting, cooking in private homes, boarding houses, and apartment houses and the users of gas for lighting, cooking only in hotels, restaurants, bakeries, eating places, club houses, hospitals and other charitable institutions. All others are classified as industrial users. The latter are subdivided into three classes. A—Users who are not included in the domestic consumers' class as herein specified, but who are engaged in preparing or preserving foodstuffs, or food producing plants for such purposes only. B—Industries directly engaged in the manufacturing or producing war materials for such purposes only and users of gas in gas engines. C—All other industrial consumers. Where there is not sufficient gas for all industrial consumers as herein defined the surplus shall be furnished to industrial in order above named.

This classification is subject to the following exceptions: Where natural gas is being used in limited quantities for scientific, experimental or mechanical purposes, and where other means of producing light and heat for such purposes cannot be reasonably substituted, an amount essential to such use, not to exceed five thousand (5,000) cubic feet per month to each consumer so engaged may be used for such purposes only, and as if they were included in the class of domestic consumers herein specified.

If, after disconnecting all industrial consumers, there is not a sufficient supply of gas for the domestic consumers, then all boilers and furnaces not provided with gas fixtures and appliances, and primary designed for burning natural gas, shall be disconnected, and if it becomes necessary to further restrict the use of gas to meet the emergency domestic consumers may be limited to the use of thirty-five (35,000) cubic feet per month, in one building, or for one family.

MT. UNION COLLEGE HAS COMMENCEMENT

Alliance, O., June 11.—The seventy-first annual commencement of Mt. Union College occurs next week. President W. H. McMaster will give the baccalaureate sermon Sunday morning, June 16; Rev. W. H. Hamaker of Trinity church, Youngstown will address the Christian associations in the evening. Bishop Francis J. McConnell, just back from France, will deliver the commencement oration Wednesday, June 19 at 10:00 a. m. In the afternoon the women of the college will give a patriotic pageant, "America, Yesterday and Today." Twenty-two seniors will receive diplomas, the smallest class in years, due to the inroads of war. Already more than 215 Mount Union men alumni and students are with the colors.

METROPOLITAN INSURANCE MEN SELLING STAMPS

Licking county's quota of War Savings Stamps for 1918 is $1,236,150—almost one and one-quarter millions of dollars. In other words it is $20 for every man woman and child in the county. The sales must average about $4,000 daily.

The people are not generally aware of the limitation placed upon the purchase of War Savings Stamps. The law directs that no individual may own more than 200 Stamps, the June price of which is $34. This splendid investment was devised primarily for the small investor and to prevent the Stamps from being held by heavy investors, the government fixed the limit that one could hold.

A War Savings Stamp is a government bond practically payable upon demand. It will never go below par. Interest is added every month at the rate of 4 per cent compounded quarterly thus making it the very best investment in the world today.

The first big institution to take an interest in the W. S. S. campaign was the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company which agreed to sell through its agents $65,000,000 worth of these Stamps. Deputy Superintendent L. E. Davis, of Newark, and his agents J. E. Fulton, C. L. Campbell, George Penick and Bertram Hollar are now doing fine work for the government through their well directed campaign for War Savings.

Every one of the Newark Metropolitan men intends to "go over the top" with his full quota in June and with this in view each of them has made two pledges: first, to spend one-third of his entire working time during June to the sale of Stamps and second, each man has pledged himself to personally invest one whole week's earnings in June in War Savings Stamps.

The Licking county war savings chairman is glad to avail himself of this organization and invites the cooperation of the public to the end that Licking county as a county may secure its allotment of sales thus sustaining the enviable reputation Licking county has already made in all of its war activities.

One of the Newark Metropolitan agents already has $3,500 stamp sales to his credit. The company has furnished each one of its 13,000 agents with an advance of $25 that they may at all times have Stamps on their person for sale.

Help put old Licking "over the top" by buying War Stamps—the world's best investment. You are giving nothing away in buying Stamps but are simply putting your money in Uncle Sam's big savings bank. The money will all come back to you with interest at any time you want it.

TELEGRAPH BRIEFS

New York—Directors for all railroads in the country under the government's supervision have been approved by Secretary McAdoo.

Norfolk, Va.—Survivors of the Pinar del Rio say that the German submarine off coast of New Jersey was accompanied by a "mother ship."

An Atlantic Port—An American transport was fired on by a German submarine off coast of New Jersey with unknown results.

South Bend—Chairman Hurley says the United States will have a merchant marine of 25,000,000 dead weight tons in 1920.

With American Army in France—U. S. marines attacked the Germans and penetrated the enemy lines for about two-thirds of a mile on a 600 yard front in the Belleau.

Washington—The fuel administrator announced that manufacturers of pleasure automobiles would be restricted to 25 per cent of the amount of coal used in 1917-18.

STOP CORN AGONY IN FOUR SECONDS

Use "Get-It"—See Corns Peel Off! The relief that "Get-It" gives from corn-pains—the way it makes corns and calluses peel off painlessly in one piece—is one of the wonders of the world.

The woman in the home, the shopper, the dancer, the foot traveler, the man in the office, the clerk in the store, the worker in the shop, have today, in this great discovery, "Get-It," the one sure, quick relief from all corn and callus pains—the one sure, painless remedy that makes corns come off as easily as you would peel a banana. It takes 2 seconds to apply "Get-It." It dries at once. Then walk with painless joy, even with tight shoes. You know your corn will loosen from your foot—peel it off with your fingers. Try it, corn sufferers, and you'll smile! "Get-It," the guaranteed money-back corn-remover, the only sure way, costs but a trifle at any drug store. Wm. D. Evans & Co., Chicago, Illinois. Sold in Newark and recommended as the world's best corn remedy by T. J. Evans, R. F. Collins, R. W. Smith, W. A. Erman, "City" Drug Store, C. T. Bricker, Adv.

CONFERENCE OF PHYSICIANS HERE WED., JUNE 19

Every physician of Coshocton, Fairfield, Guernsey, Knox, Perry, Muskingum and Licking counties has been invited by the Ohio State Medical Association to participate in a conference to be held in this city, in the Y. M. C. A. building Wednesday, June 19, to give post-graduate consideration to the subject of physical diagnosis. Dr. Charles R. Hoover, professor of medicine, Western Reserve University School of Medicine, will conduct the meeting and will lecture on and demonstrate the recent scientific advances in this field of medical practice. The conference is one of a series of group meetings that are being held throughout the state under the auspices of the Association, with a view of making post-graduate study possible for every physician in Ohio.

Dr. Hoover will first cover the general field in a comprehensive lecture. He will then conduct a practical demonstration, illustrating the latest advances in technique that have been developed in the large clinics of the medical centers. The meeting will close with a general discussion by the physicians present. Dr. Hoover will close the meeting with a discussion of the poison gases that were originally introduced along the western front by the Germans. He served several months in France with the Lakeside Hospital Unit, and spent some time in the casualty clearing stations.

SCHULLMAN CAFE AT COLUMBUS IS CLOSED

Columbus, June 11.—Charles Schullman, proprietor of the wine room bearing his name in South High street, yesterday walked into Sheriff Slack's office and handed him the keys to his place. "I'm through," he said, "sell me out."

The Franklin brewery holds a judgment against Schullman for $4,263. He claims that the high prices of liquor prevents a profit. The sheriff will sell the furniture and equipment at public auction.

Today Sheriff Slack will sell the effects of Abe Cohen on the Marion road at public auction to satisfy a judgment of $2,272.

"A burned child dreads the fire," quoted the Wise Guy. "But one good burn deserves another," paraphrased the Simple Mug.
